INTECH ENGINEER ACHIEVES LABWINDOWS/CVI™ DEVELOPER CERTIFICATION FROM NATIONAL INSTRUMENTS™

MELBOURNE, Florida, July 1, 2008 -- Intech, a leading systems integration company and a Certified National Instruments Alliance Partner, is proud to announce the certification of one of its engineers, Doug Dieruff, as a National Instruments Certified LabWindows/CVI™ Developer. This advanced level certification recognizes a high degree of knowledge and technical skill with LabWindows/CVI. Dieruff is one of only eight Certified LabWindows/CVI Developers in the United States.

Headquartered in Melbourne on Florida's Space Coast, Intech develops custom PC based solutions using state-of-the-art technologies for customers in Florida and throughout the Southeastern United States. Intech provides full cycle project support from requirements definition and system specification through system design and integration to system test and verification.
